

Tayla Roberge @ EMS 8-14 January, 2018

 Published: 28 April 2017

Tayla Roberge (1990) is an experimental musician from the United States who performs & records under several monikers & collaborations. Most recently as Statues of Eden.

She began to perform live with a standing organ & a cassette answering machine. She has toured the U.S. with synths, violin, saxophone recordings, homemade electronics & varying other machines & sequencers.

Her work is ever evolving & inspired by harsh-noise, industrial landscapes, sound-collage, performance art, rhythm, piano, dark-ambience & improvisation. She incorporates field recordings & poetry over minimal pulses & cinematic soundscapes.

Currently she resides & studies in Providence, Rhode Island.

Tayla will spend her time at EMS working on future releases and performances.
