Wildly prolific, Stephen O'Malley's work is defined by its breadth, complexity and multidisciplinary interests. A frequent collaborator with many musicians, artists and composers in various formations, in performance, exhibitions and productions including Scott Walker; Choreographer Gisèle Vienne; the authors Dennis Cooper & Alan Moore; composers Iancu Dumitrescu, Johann Johannson, Alvin Lucier & Phill Niblock; artists Banks Violette, Fujiko Nakaya, Emily Ding, filmmakers Gast Bouschet & Nadine Hilbert, Jim Jarmusch & Panos Cosmatos; designer Rick Owens; IRCAM, INA-GRM (Paris), MONOM (Berlin), EMS (Stockholm), & others.

He draws inspiration from a deeply informed sound practice developed through his fascination with dhrupad, long-wire instrumentation, drone music, phenomenological spectralism and sound bath/healing. Stephen O'Malley presents long-form pieces of microtonal and physical sound. As a live performer he has toured the world extensively since 2003.
