Cobi van Tonder is a composer and sound researcher, from South Africa, recently based in Venice, Italy.

She has been exploring ideas around sound and space for nearly 2 decades. She currently works as a research fellow at the University of Bologna in immersive audio and sonic archaeology.

She performs mostly electronic music with the computer as her main instrument, together with a focus on processing, virtual acoustics, and infrasound.

Check out her project ACOUSTIC ATLAS <https://acousticatlas.de>. (<https://acousticatlas.de>) Here, a space (or interior) becomes another 'instrument' with unique properties of echo and resonance.
