The odyssey began early in life, with an early dedication to alternative playing methods and tunings. He honed his craft through rigorous studies at multiple conservatories in Vienna, and later at the University of Music and Performing Arts in Vienna where he graduated from the ELAK department for Electro Acoustic Music and Composition, further expanding his horizons into the realms of experimental soundscapes.

Active involvement in numerous bands, ensembles and projects throughout the years and borders: Among them a 10-piece electric guitar orchestra called the "Soft Power Ensemble of Vienna," known for their boundary-pushing sonic explorations; driving force behind Gangster Rock outfit "Thirsty Eyes," earning them praise throughout Europe for their captivating live performances; Key-member in Sound-Art Collective "A Certain Trio/ACT", their avant-garde concepts and innovative working methods have earned them recognition, including an invitation to the prestigious Ars Electronica Festival in Linz.

Marcin's work extends beyond the stage as he lends his expertise to producing and songwriting for undisclosed pop industry artists. His prowess is not limited to any contemporary or popular genres, among his clients you will find the Viennese Philharmonic Orchestra.

Remarkably, he embarked on his first tour at the tender age of 15, and since then, his musical journey has taken him to stages in Austria, Germany, Italy, the UK, Poland, the Netherlands, Denmark, Australia, and South-Korea.

Over the years, he has garnered several composition prizes, scholarships, and other accolades.
