

Annie Mahtani @ EMS 10-16 August!

 Published: 05 August 2015

Annie Mahtani is a composer and sound artist working and living in Birmingham. Since completing her doctoral studies in electroacoustic composition in 2008 she has worked as a freelance composer, performer, curator and educator.

As a composer, her interests include multichannel acousmatic composition, performance practice of electroacoustic music, live acousmatic performance, phonography, site-specific installations and cross disciplinary collaboration.

Annie is co-director of SOUNDkitchen, a Birmingham based organisation which she founded in 2010, dedicated to promoting local sound artists and composers.
