He tries to address the question of disrupted continuum, interferences and representation of concepts by using physics of sound and error/artifact magnification. His work is based on both experimentations and programming, using concepts of complexity and chaos as guidelines. He depicts a world saturated of informations often meaningless, societies complexity through a positivenihilist kind of deconstruction of processes, structures and results.

He performed his audio-visual live performances in international festivals like ELEKTRA in Canada, or sound:frame in Austria and exhibited his work in galleries in Europe. He's also an art teacher and he provides advanced technical courses about the place of technology in new media creation, invited by different art schools in Europe.

He co-leads the Bordille Records art label with François Larini and works closely with & records for Canadian imprint Yatra Arts.
